

The Yardstick

$t - 10$

now

it decides on the oldest: the world 10 ticks (167 ms) ago

11 key combinations

simulate 20 ticks

score it

no keys

score

shoulder up

score

shoulder down

score

shoulder down + elbow out

score

shoulder up + elbow out

score

elbow in

score

step toward

score

step toward + shoulder down

score

step away

score

step toward + shoulder up

score

step away + shoulder up

score

copy of the world at $t - 10$

the highest score

pressed for 5 ticks,
then it searches again

What it scores

Round won or lost: $\pm 100,000$

Round drawn: $-20,000$

A cut in the look-ahead: $\pm 3,000$

Ink, its own minus yours: $\times 20$

Its point to your head: -1 a cm

Your point to its head: $+\frac{1}{2}$ a cm

Distance from 180 cm: -2 a cm

Its point near its own body: -40 a cm

Each candidate is simulated with your most recent key press held for the whole look-ahead.

20 ticks is 334 ms ahead. The ladder plays this pilot against every opponent on the road, 200 matches each.